The Beijing Institute of Technology International Summer Program 'Cloud lessons'

Learning practical application of Chinese, enjoy multi-cultures, and making friends universally

Program introduction: BIT international summer programs attract nearly 500 international students from dozens of countries every year. In 2020, the BIT international summer program is not able to proceed as scheduled due to COVID – 19. In order to reduce the impact of the epidemic on our partner universities and students who have applied for the summer program, BIT plans to launch an online 'Cloud lessons' summer program. This program focuses on the practical application of Chinese language and multicultural communication perception. By attending the online live streaming course, interactive discussions and report sharing, you will learn daily Chinese, understand Chinese culture, economic and social development. Joining in the program, you will compare, share and experience the culture differences; you will unlock the styles and characteristics of different cultures in the world through 'Online Clock-In' without leaving your home; you will harvest with an expanded horizon, a deep understanding of the world, a fun online learning journey and friendships around the world.

Courses: Communicative Chinese and Multicultural Curriculum Practice.
